HARLAN'S BONES.

Their Charred Fragments Aired in Court.

The Second Day of Hattie Woolsteen's Examination.

She Bears the Tedious Trial With Great Self-Possession,

And Shows Emotion but Once—Dr. Harlan's Jaw Positively Identified—The Recipients of Hattie's Confession, Not Yet on the Stand.

Again yesterday morning, fully an hour before the time set for the continuation of the taking of testimony in the Harlan murder case, was the court-room at the City Hall crowded with the curious. If anything, the crush was greater than on the previous afternoon, and at times, when the attorneys made their points, it was with difficulty that order was maintained. W. H. Hunter, the officer of the court, had, however, given the crowd to understand that the room would be cleared if proper decorum was not observed, so the annoyance from this cause was not nearly so great as on Tuesday. At a few minutes after the time set for the continuance of the testimony the attorneys entered the room, and, upon announcing themselves in readiness, the accused was brought in under the care of Constable Ed Smith, who brought her and her sister from the prison in a hack. Hattie Woolsteen was considerably more composed than on Tuesday, and but once during the day did she show any signs of emotion, and that was after Mrs. Harlan, the widow of the deceased, had given her testimony. Hattie then drew out her handkerchief, and for a few moments buried her face in its folds, and for some time showed signs of a little feeling. The first witness put on the stand yesterday morning was who, upon being sworn, testified: I am a resident of Compton and am acquainted with the locality of the place where the Barbey barn stood. I was the foreman of the Coroner's jury, and found the remains over which the inquest was held, in the northeast corner of what had been the floor of the barn. I cannot say whether there was any hair or whiskers left on the body, but there was a little of the moustache left and it was of a reddish tint. I think there were no marks of violence about the body, but I saw a small hole in the left side of the head above and in front of the ear. I could and did put the little finger of my hand into the hole as far as the first joint of the finger. On the remains there was yet a little clothing. [Witness was here shown the box containing the clothing handed to the Chief of Police by Judge Leonard.] Yes, I identify those clothes as those we took from the remains at the inquest. [Witness was here also shown the other articles found on or near the body.] I also recognize those sleeve-buttons and other articles of jewelry as those picked up by various members of that jury and handed to Judge Leonard. I saw the clothing taken off the remains by Judge Leonard. I saw the remains again at Compton on the next day; there were no medical men present at that time. I did not notice the head or skull on that occasion.

Cross-examined by Mr. White: I think the skull was not so badly burned that it would fall to pieces when touched. I saw the breast of the deceased bared at the inquest, and did not notice any bruises or cut on the breast at that time. I was not present at the examination made by Dr. Whaley.

Mr. White here handed the witness a piece of twine and asked him to cut off a piece as near as possible the length of the circumference of the hole in the skull. This the witness did by measuring the twine around the first joint of his little finger, and on cutting it off and measuring it the length was found to be exactly 1⅞ inches. This piece of twine the counsel for the defendant requested might be filed in evidence.

JUDGE LEONARD RECALLED.

After the body had been removed to the harness shop I think the hole in the skull was not to be seen, as the part of the skull containing it had fallen to dust when touched by the jurymen.

FRED L. JENKINS

was then sworn and testified: I reside in Compton, and was present at the ruins of Barbey's barn when the inquest was held on the remains of a body found there on the day after the barn had been consumed by fire. The body was very badly burned and was charred. The head was so burned by the fire that the eyes were entirely gone, and the nose and ears. I saw no whiskers on what remained of the face of the deceased, but I think there was a little bit of sandy mustache left. I don't know how much of the head there was left, but I remember that over the left ear there was a small hole, and on one side of the body there were the remains of the clothing. I saw nothing else that I remember.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wells: The hole in the head was in the front and a little above the left ear, and appeared to me as though it had been made by a ball from a 44-caliber pistol. The head fell to pieces when the body was turned over.

By Mr. Dupuy: I saw Miss Hattie Woolsteen at Compton on the day before the fire. She was in a buggy with a gentleman with whom I am not acquainted. It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. They were in a two-horse buggy. The man had on a large, broad-brimmed white hat similar to those worn by Texas cowboys. I was at John Stevens's place at the time. It is three-quarters of a mile away from the Barbey place toward Compton. They were driving along the road, which was about fifty-eight feet away from the well tubing where I was standing at work. They did not stop as they went past us at the first time, but as they turned and came past us a second time they stopped the buggy. I did not get a good look at her, but know it was Hattie Woolsteen from what they told me afterward. She looked like that lady sitting next to Col. Wells. [Hattie.] After coming back they went off in the direction of the Barbey barn, but I could not tell whether they went there or not on account of there being so many trees in the way. I was east of Lemon street, about 500 yards, and three-quarters of a mile from the barn.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wells: The man had on a broad-brimmed, white, low-crowned hat. I was at the well-tubing about fifty feet from the road. They drove past me the first time, going toward Wilmington, at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. In about half an hour they came back driving at about the same speed, but stopped at the well-tubing, to see the works, I suppose, and then went forward toward the Barbey place at was worth about $175 or $200. Had been wearing the ring on his left hand for about two months.

FRANK P. MONROE

was then sworn and testified: I reside here in this city; have known Harlan about eighteen months. I know he wore jewelry and a white broad-brimmed hat. On his little finger he wore a solitaire diamond ring. I saw him last on the Wednesday before his disappearance.

MR. M'CONNELL

then testified: I am a tailor and reside in this city. I am acquainted with Dr. Harlan and made some clothes for him during his life. I completed two suits for him a short time ago. One was dark and the other light. [Witness was shown the box containing the remains of the clothing taken from the body.] I recognize this as one of the suits I made for Dr. Harlan. I can tell this from the lining, which is such as I always use, and also from the yellow padding, which is used only in my shop in this city. This suit was a sack suit, and I am positive it was made in my shop and paid for by Harlan. Don't know what jewelry he was in the habit of wearing.

G. S. DE GARMO

then testified: I reside in this city, and was acquainted with Dr. Harlan during life. He was in the habit of wearing a good-sized diamond ring, the diamond being about as large as the end of a lead pencil, and was worth about $180. He used to wear, also, a double-case gold watch, but that watch you have shown was not like the one he usually wore. He had a watch on his person on the Sunday morning before his alleged death, but I cannot tell what watch it was. He used to wear a locket set with diamonds and a horseshoe pin. I have not noticed the pin on him for some time.

A recess was here taken until 2 o'clock p.m., and after the recess Willard R. Bird was called to the stand.

testified: I reside in this city, and am a dentist by profession. I knew Dr. Harlan, and know that he used to wear a gold watch and chain. He was a dentist, and I often sent him work. I also did a great deal of work on his teeth, and would know his teeth at any time I saw them. On Monday, October 3d, I put in a cement filling into one of his upper molars on the left side, and prepared two other cavities in other teeth for filling. I had also put in a gold filling for him some time ago. I would decidedly know that work when I saw it. I did see it at Compton on the Tuesday after his disappearance, one week from the time I put in the last work on his teeth. The remains were taken out of the ground at the cemetery there, and Judge Leonard and Detective Brady did the digging then, Dr. Shinn, another dentist, drew the nails from the box, and I took the lower jaw off the remains. I gave the jaw to Chief Darcy after examining it. [Upon the request of counsel, the jaw was produced by Chief Darcy, and the witness taking it into his hand, pointed out several peculiarities in the shape of the teeth and the work on them, which proved to him the jaw was that of the late Dr. Harlan.]

After examining that jaw I am as well prepared to say that it is the jaw of Dr. Harlan as I would be to say it was Dr. Harlan himself if I was engaged in a conversation with him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wells: I have filled a number of teeth in a similar manner to those, but these teeth I cannot help but remember as the Doctor was afflicted with a disease of the gums which made the lower teeth appear to recede more than in ordinary cases. If Dr. Harlan's remains had not been found, or if I had no knowledge of his death, and that jaw was shown to me I would certainly be able to say that it was the jaw of that man.

By Justice Austin: The work was not so peculiar, but the teeth were, and by that I identify them.

Mr. White: Your Honor, I suppose the jaw speaks for itself.

By Mr. Dupuy: I cannot state for certain as regards the wisdom teeth, but I am of the opinion that the wisdom tooth on the left lower jaw was gone.

MARY C. HARLAN

was then sworn and announced herself as the widow of the late Dr. Harlan. She testified: I have here a picture of the Doctor as taken with myself about five years ago. We were married in Danville, Ind., and went to Florida to live and remained there about a year. The Doctor went there first and I went to him after. We resided in various parts of the State, my husband having been engaged in the buying and shipping of oranges. I then went to my home and remained there about ten months, and then meeting my husband in St. Louis we came out here together. I had a friend in Pasadena named Mrs. Foote, and we went there on our arrival. On the day of his disappearance the Doctor wore a dark suit of clothes and had a gold watch and chain. On the chain was a locket set with six diamonds, and engraved with his monogram, "C. N. H."

MRS. MAX VON BAYER

then testified: I have known Hattie Woolsteen about two months. I resided in the same house with her on Fort street. Her room was in the front of the house, and her sister lived with her. I last saw her on the 10th of October, and Mrs. Malone was present. Hattie had a very beautiful diamond ring on her finger, and I wished to remove it to look at it, but Hattie would not allow me to, saying at the time, "That ring was wished on, and I do not wish it removed." Nothing was then said about Harlan, nor was any gentleman mentioned. The defendant was in apparently light spirits, showing no signs of gloom or trouble. I don't know that there is any particular significance attached to the wishing of a ring off or on a hand.

Dr. Bird recalled, stated that he had noticed a ring on Dr. Harlan's hand, but had always seen it there, and had not missed it at the last conversation he had with him.

testified: I am a dressmaker, and have done some work for the Misses Woolsteen. After I finished the last and only dress I made for her, she told me her uncle had made them a present of a black satin dress each, and they would give them to me to make. The reason I mention this, was that if I only made the one dress, it would cost her more than if I made them all. I had no other acquaintance with her.

DEBORAH COAKELY

testified: I know Miss Hattie by sight. She was rooming in the house on Fort street when I bought it. I don't know Dr. Harlan, but remember the papers speaking about his being murdered. Miss Minnie told me of the crime. I noticed on the following Sunday that Hattie had a large diamond ring, but I did not examine it closely.

DR. HORACE SHINN

testified: I knew Dr. Harlan during his life. I worked in his office for him. I last saw him on Spring street on the night he disappeared. We had been to Mrs. Hunter's to dinner, and on our way back he went up into the office and getting a box of cigars, gave me one and then went into the Brunswick beer hall, and I saw him no more. He had a gold watch on him at that time. It is like the one you have shown me, but he had one that was his own, and that one he had taken as a pledge from a young man to whom he had lent $140. I had the other watch in my possession, having lent him $50 on it. He had also a diamond ring. I have pawned the watch I lent him the money on since his disappearance. I know the cuff buttons you have there. They are like those worn by Dr. Harlan when I last saw him. The large solitaire ring he had was sometimes pawned by him for a few days at a time. He had it on when he disappeared. I have seen Miss Hattie Woolsteen at the office. She has been there several times since I have been working there. On our way down town that evening when I last saw him he showed me a diamond in Hollingsworth's window about the same size as the one he had in his ring, and said that $300 had been refused for it.

JAMES CHICK

then testified: I reside in this city, and am the proprietor of a livery stable here. I remember letting Miss H. Woolsteen take a buggy from the stable on a Thursday or Friday in the early part of the month. It was about 5 o'clock in the evening, and she was particular to ask me about the horse and buggy, and said she wanted it for two hours. I did not see the buggy again till next morning, when it was brought to the stable at about 7 o'clock. I did not notice anything wrong about either the horse or the buggy until Chief Darcy came to my stable and asked to see the buggy. It was then in the shop being repaired, having had the shafts broken during the Fair week. I was then shown that a piece of cloth had been cut out of the curtain on the back of the buggy. I can't say when it was done, for I knew nothing about it until it was shown me by Chief Darcy. This was several days after the buggy had been returned, and not until after it had been at the shop a few days. [The top of the buggy was brought into the court and shown to witness, who identified it.]

testified that he helped in Mr. Chick's stable, and remembered Miss Hattie when she returned the buggy on the morning after borrowing it. The witness stated: I do not remember seing the hole in the curtain until it was pointed out to me by Chief Darcy. I do not know whether there is a hole in the glass at the back of the buggy or not, as I have not noticed it. When she returned the bugry nothing was said by either of us, except as related to the price, which was $4, and was paid by Miss Woolsleen.

CHARLES SWAYNE

testified: I reside in this city, and am working in a grocery house. I used to room in the same house with the Misses Woolsteen. Do not know either of them. I saw one in a buggy about 6:30 on the morning of the 7th, but did not speak. It was at the house on Fort street where I roomed.

WILL J. HAAS

testified: I saw the Misses Woolsteen with a buggy about 6:30 on the morning of the 7th of this month, and Miss Hattie was trying to put the bridle on the horse. I tendered my assistance, but as she told me she had been thirteen years about horses I did not help her any. The horse had no harness on, and was hitched some few feet from the buggy. It was in the yard of the house on Fort street, where I roomed.

CHARLES PHELPS

testified: I am a son of Mrs. Phelps, who has charge of No. 514 Fort street, where the Misses Woolsteen roomed. I know them both. I saw them hitching a horse to a buggy on the morning of the 7th of this month before I had eaten my breakfast. Do not know what time they had come in the night before, but saw the place where the horse had been standing that night. There was some feed for a horse in the yard and stable.

HENRY HILLER

testified: I am working in the store occupied by Mr. Adams on Commercial street as a gun store. We sell guns, pistols and hunting articles. I remember selling a pistol to a young lady in the early part of the month. It was an American Bulldog, 32 calibre, double action, and had a pearl handle. I also sold her a box of cartridges of a size to suit the pistol. I do not remember what kind of a young lady it was. She said she had borrowed a pistol from a young man in the country, and having lost it was desirous of replacing it. I do not see any young lady in this room like the one to whom I sold the pistol. I do not think she was like that young lady at all. [This was in answer to an inquiry as to whether the lady looked like the accused.] That pistol you have shown is like the one I sold, but there are a good many like it and I could not tell that it was the exact pistol.

A recess was then taken until 9:30 this morning.

Unless You Want to Buy, Don't Read This.

Being directly interested in the building of a standard gauge railroad from Los Angeles along the foothills to Santa Monica, places us in position to offer some gilt-edged bargains at various points along the route. We are sole agents for the sale of lots in Prospect Hill subdivision, in the Lick Tract, where grading has already begun and the building of a $75,000 hotel, "The Winchester," will be pushed to completion as rapidly as men and material can do it. This is the finest and most beautiful subdivision in the county, and only fifteen minutes' ride from Spring street. The cars will be running to this subdivision by October 20th, and a fine depot will be built immediately. Strangers and tourists are especially invited to call at our office and inspect the plans for the hotel; also maps of subdivisions. We have also several other tracts or subdivisions on the line of railroad and boulevard, which we will be pleased to show our customers at any time. Sunset boulevard, as well as the Foothills Railroad, runs through or near all these tracts, and we can accommodate you with large or small lots or acre tracts on which large profits may be realized. Being interested in the railroad, we can show you just where the depot buildings and sidings will be, so you will know just where to select lots either for business or residence purposes. Our carriage is always ready, and we will take pleasure in showing any one who desires to purchase, or to furnish any information in regard to the above properties. Strangers are particularly invited to make our office their headquarters while in the city, where any information in regard to real estate or railroad matters will be cheerfully given. We have some fine bargains in city property, houses and lots, in various parts of the city. Also a small hotel at The Palms, doing a fine business.

CORNER STONE LAID.

Interesting Exercises at the Los Angeles College.

The ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the new building of the Los Angeles College occurred yesterday, and the proceedings were interesting, not only to the young ladies and the directors of the institution, but to the general public.

The building is being erected at the corner of Eighth and Hope streets, and when completed will cost in the neighborhood of $35,000. The building will be frame, three stories in height, with a brown-stone foundation.

Long before the advertised hour for the commencement of the exercises the adjoining streets were blocked with carriages, and promptly at 2:30 some 300 young ladies, beautifully dressed, were seen approaching. Each bore a bouquet of exquisite flowers.

The corner stone is of brown granite and bears the following inscription:

1887.
Los Angeles College.

"The fear of the Lord. That is wisdom."

When the young ladies had arranged themselves along the northwest corner of the lot, at a given signal from Prof. Hanna they sang in chorus three stanzas of the Nicean hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy." Dr. Weller followed with a short prayer.

Rev. Mr. Stevens then delivered an earnest address, beseeching those present to assist the college, and see that the institution when built, was properly equipped.

Rev. Dr. Chichester exhorted the young ladies to show their appreciation of the efforts of Dr. Hanna by faithful attention to their studies. His personal reminiscences of experiences in seminaries werevery humorous.

The stone was then formally presented in a neat and appropriate speech by Miss Millie Richards, and accepted on behalf of the college by Miss Julia Crawford, who spoke at some length, and was quite dramatic at times.

The young ladies then took hold on either side of the rope and slowly let the stone down to its proper place. The copper box placed in the stone contained a copy of the prospectus, issued before the opening of the college, a catalogue of the first and second years, a list of the pupils and faculty, copies of the daily papers, and the names of the directors and trustees of the college.

After every detail had been concluded, the young ladies arrayed themselves in a double file around the college, and strewed their bouquets around the outside of the building.

After Dr. Hanna pronounced the stone laid, prayer was offered by Dr. Weller, and the audience left, fully satisfied that the new college was begun under the most favorable auspices.

LIEUT.-COL. PATRICK DENNIS WIGGINTON scouts the assertion that he was born in Cork. Well, so does Denis Kearney.

SINCE the death of the Marquis Oliver and the Marquis Murphy, California's nobility has dwindled down to Marquis Borax.

"WILL Sherman bolt?" asks the San Francisco Call. Well, not to any extent so long as the Republican party continues to be Republican.

AND now a Nevada man has started the story that Phil Sheridan was born in Ireland. This is an Irish bovine. Sheridan is an Ohio man of Milesian extraction.

THE make-up of the McCord jury was completed yesterday, and now slippery 'Jim" must face the music. He will have to dance, too, or cut a big hole in his sack.

YELLOW JACK is rampant in Florida. Dr. Porter telegraphed Surgeon-General Hamilton yesterday, from Tampa, stating there have been 225 to 250 cases of yellow fever, and thirty-four deaths up to date.

A FIGHT is reported between Servian frontier guards and Albanian brigands. The people of that section have been in a chronic state of knock-down and drag-out for years. And as to who are the brigands, it is difficult for outsiders to determine.

POLITICAL wiseacres assert that Democratic Congressional losses will give the Republican party the whip hand in the National Legislature in case the people fail to elect a Chief Magistrate next fall. As things now stand the Republicans have a majority of Congressmen in twenty States, and the Democrats in seventeen, while one, New Hampshire, is divided.

MANGUS and his Apache raiders are still lifting horses, cattle and hair in Arizona. They are having fun with the troops, playing hide and seek in the mountains. How would it do to banish the Anarchists to the Apache fastnesses? Perhaps they would become so interested in each other that the country would get a rest. They would make beautiful corpses, and the dry air of Aridzone is very desiccating.

THE San Francisco Call advances the theory that Blaine is more popular in Ohio than John Sherman, and that the latter is disgruntled and and lukewarm in his support of Foraker for Governor, because of a suspicion that Foraker is a Blaine man in disguise. The Call is mistaken. Ohio is loyal to John Sherman, as she has attested a hundred times, and on a test vote the "iceberg" will freeze out his fervid contemporary from the Pine Tree State. Sherman is no sky-rocket, but he is a tremendous stayer.

THE New York Times says that the Oregon Transcontinental Company's directors yesterday ordered the withdrawal of all suits against the Northern Pacific Company, including that for injunction against building the Palouse branch. This is probably the forerunner of the great railroad league referred to in these columns last week, a combination whereby the through traffic from the Northwest Pacific Coast to the Southwest Atlantic seaboard was to be muzzled and controlled by one general management.

A THOUGHTFUL and conservative view is taken by a correspondent of the subject, now being agitated, of the proper amount of real-estate dealers' licenses. Our correspondent makes rather a large claim, we think, when he asserts that half the immigration to Los Angeles is traceable to the influence of the real-estate agents; but, nevertheless, he makes some good and sound points, which are entitled to consideration by the ordinance framers. [illegible] low license would not be just to [illegible] and to other lines of business. [illegible] high license would be prohibitory [illegible] business of many worthy persons [illegible] in real-estate transactions. [illegible] is a golden mean. Let it be [illegible] if possible.

As to Wigginton.

The appointment of the blatant and bloviating Wigginton as a colonel on the staff of the commander of the army and navy of California was an offensive act on the part of horse-editor and Private Secretary Boruck. The appointment has disgusted Republicans all over the State. The Sacramento Bee voices a common sentiment when it says:

"P. D. Wigginton, ex-rebel and present assumed American, has been appointed Colonel on the staff of Gov. Waterman. Wiggy has been pleased to remark that 'Waterman is an American party man, anyway. He is one of us. He is our Governor. We got an American Governor sooner than we expected.' So you did. Death and duplicity got the best of the voters. Over the door to the Governor's office Waterman should have Boruck, his man Friday, inscribe: 'No Republicans need apply.'"

The rejection by the Senate of Wigginton's appointment would be poetic justice—Wigginton is a poet himself—he wrote some rebel poetry in 1861, reviling Abraham Lincoln. No man who reviled the Good President in vile verse, bad prose, or infamous speech, should be honored with position under a Republican State government.

The Question of a Gubernatorial Banquet.

To this local question THE TIMES referred slightly on yesterday, taking the ground that, under the existing circumstances, it would be proper and expedient to dispense with that proposed branch of the gubernatorial reception ceremonies. Our reasons were given. They are the same reasons that hold in the minds of many gentlemen in the community.

The subject is not one of absorbing interest, but has attracted some attention by reason of the peculiar, industrious and rather brazen methods used by two or three interested busy-bodies to bring about a demonstration for which there appears to be no clear popular demand. Beyond the known maneuvering and gophering of the oily originator and chief proprietor of the scheme, to wit, Mr. Boyce, and his few lieutenants, the efforts made to help along the banquet have been purely perfunctory and passive, so far, at least, as Los Angeles is concerned. This statement will cause a howl of pain and rage in the political gopher-holes and among the office brokers who are trying to use the Governor for selfish ends, but the fact cannot be successfully disputed. It is the perpendicular and Arctic truth. The people of this city, as a body, will at the proper time do the correct and handsome thing by any of their public servants (not masters), but they will not, if they know it, be dragooned into any movement originated for the sole purpose of furthering the private and selfish ends of any disreputable and repudiated political huckster. They will neither be dragged into the train of such a character, nor permit him to put them "in the door." This is a truth that both the proprietor and the assistant proprietor of the Waterman banquet boom may as well take home to themselves r. q.

THE TIMES has received the following letter upon the subject. It is from an eminent citizen of the State, who knows perfectly the proprieties that should be observed in the case, and who, moreover, is moved by a desire to lean toward the generous in any public action that may be taken in the premises at the proper time. The gentleman's name is withheld for the present, for obvious reasons:

THE WATERMAN CEREMONIES.

To the Editor of the Times: The proposition of some people in Los Angeles in the name of the whole, "without party affiliation," to tender to Gov. Waterman a reception and banquet on his arrival here, a day or two since, has provoked sharp criticism in other quarters by those who are willing to extend to His Excellency the courtesies due his position. But that part of the programme embracing a banquet is particularly condemned as a too early exhibition of festive hilarity while the funeral dirge of his late predecessor still lingers in the public ear.

These are questions of taste and decency, and cannot be settled by precedent, and the propriety of such a proceeding must be settled by the community itself.

Let us hope the question may be wisely and prudently met. At all events, to rob the affair of that seemingly ghoulish aspect it now wears, and that undeniable offense to good taste under the circumstances, I would suggest that that part of the programme consisting of a banquet be omitted, and all join in a reception to the Governor, as a limit to which public taste can at present go. Yours, etc.,

A DISPATCH says: "All the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad assets have been found to be about eight millions, and liabilities seventeen millions. It is also found that there is practically no money on hand to meet the liabilities. The road is insolvent, owing to bad management." Yes, when the steal is millions "bad management" is the name. When it's a barrel of flour or a cold ham it is theft.

THE cold-blooded beastliness of the Chinese is made most apparent in their treatment of the sick and dead. A case of smallpox in Chinatown was recently reported to Dr. Mears, health officer of San Francisco, and the Doctor, accompanied by an assistant, repaired to the place designated to make an investigation. They found the premises deserted and the doors fastened. After effecting an entrance below they climbed to the third floor. The door of the room to which they had been directed was firmly closed, so that they were compelled to burst it open by main force. On entering they discovered the body of a Chinese woman, who had died of smallpox. It was a sickening spectacle. The woman, they ascertained, was the wife of Ah Toy, who has been in New York for the past five or six months, and is still there.

ORIENTAL papers brought by the steamer Gaelic contain copies of the agreement for establishing the China-American Bank. The agreement, as published, shows that the name of Vanderbilt was employed in the negotiations by Mitkiewicz, and that the United States Government was mentioned as being cognizant of the proposed argument. Considered as a schemer, Mr. Mitkiewicz is a sunflower of very large proportions; at least, the size of his scheme and his measurement of cheek would so indicate. He is said to be a small, dark, rat-like individual, with a head filled with immeasurable projects. In which respects, and bearing the quality of success, he resembles Mr. Gould.

THE appointment of Chamberlain as member of the International Fish Commission is thus commented upon by the London News:

"Lord Salisbury does already regret the rashness of his choice. Chamberlain's temper is much against him in politics, and is likely to be fatal in diplomacy. He seems to have forgotten that American citizens, whether of English or Irish blood, are not propitiated by insult."

It is not clear to us how politicians of the Chamberlain stripe are rated in England. He seems to have been on every side of every question, and in America he would be rated a flopper.

THE Sacramento Record-Union publishes an interview with a Los Angeles delegate to the Y.M.C.A. convention recently held at Woodland, Yolo county. The Y.M.C.A. delegate is made to say, among other things:

"'Yes,' said he, 'you have a lovely country here, and I firmly believe that you have advantages in land that we of Los Angeles do not have. Your climate is simply superb, if I can judge from the last few days.'"

Yes, the climate and the soil of the Woodland and Sacramento regions are decidedly of the Y.M.C.A. type—lean, gaunt, gloomy and peculiar.

AMUSEMENTS.

OSBOURNE AND STOCKWELL'S COMPANY.—The Osbourne and Stockwell Company, from their Alcazar Theatre, San Francisco, begin a week's engagement next Monday at the Grand Opera-house, presenting a strong repertoire of plays, The Shadows of a Great City, The Golden Giant and Ranch 10. The principals, George Osbourne and L. R. Stockwell have long been favorites of the theatre-going public of the Pacific Coast, in their respective lines ranking high. Mr. Osbourne as a character actor has earned deserved praise, while L. R. Stockwell as a comedian is very popular. The supporting company is a strong one. Frank Mordaunt, Harry Davenport, Hobart Bosworth, Miss Ethel Brandon, Miss Hattie Moore, well and favorably known here, and Miss Helen Mason. The company brings a car-load of scenery for the proper presentation of each play, together with their own stage machinists, to handle the intricate scenery. The Shadows of a Great City will be the opening play.

THE HUNGARIAN ORCHESTRA.—The Electrical Orchestra, true to its promises, electrified its rather limited audience from the start. From their leader, a striking young foreigner, they represent an ideal group of musicians of the German military type. The selections rendered were in themselves only ordinary (but not trash), but each was given with such extraordinary spirit as to set the nerves tingling and the foot tapping and to inspire in even a rheumatic leg the impulse to cut at least a part of a pigeon wing. The soloists on the 'cello, violin and flute all played with a good degree of skill, while the electric bells and phenomena were odd, interesting and managed adroitly, guiltless of hitches or cessations of the tricky fluid. The music of sixteen robust men amounts to a rather awe-inspiring volume when performed with German thoroughness, and the audience showed a slight tendency to retire to the confines of the hall to save their threatened tympanums. The orchestra should in justice have the advantage of more space to be wholly appreciated. The Czarda, or Hungarian national dance, was the best and most typical number on the programme, being full of the wild and sad melody of that strange people. The whole entertainment is lively and entertaining and should draw good houses to Armory Hall during the week.

Yates, Indian agent of the Round Valley Reservation, Mendocino county, has been transferred from the Superior Court of Sonoma county to the United States Circuit Court of this city. Plaintiffs claim that the three commissioners appointed for the purpose of appraising the property of settlers on the reservation, had made no appraisement, and had paid no compensation to plaintiffs; that on September 1st Yates served on them a notice of ejectment, and sent troops and agents to drive away their stock and expel their families from their homes. The land was not sold. Fisk first claimed to have found a purchaser in a Chicago syndicate, which did not materialize. Then he sold to one Bell, who said he would take the land and pay $10,000 down. This was not satisfactory to the owners, so no sale was made.

OF INTEREST TO WOOL-GROWERS.

The report of Col. Switzer, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, on wool and manufacturers of wool is ready for distribution. The report shows that the number of sheep in the United States increased from 19,000,000 in 1880 to 51,000,000 in 1884, but declined to 45,000,000 in 1887. This marked decline occurred mainly in the Southern and Western States, and is attributed to the decline in the price of wool since 1884. Great Britain, being the leading wool market of the world, has always been the principal market for our purchases of wool. Our imports of wool rose from 1,715,699 pounds in 1822 to 114,038,030 pounds in 1887. The increase in wool imports has about kept pace with the growth of our wool products, both having about doubled. Since 1860 the annual imports of wool averaged over $9,000,000. Our imports have nereased about 62 per cent., but the consumption per capita has doubled, which the statistician says, indicates in a striking manner the advancement of wealth and comfort in style of living among the people of the country. The statistics of the imports and exports of woolens in the trade of foreign countries show that the United Kingdom is foremost in foreign trade in wools, the imports during 1885 amounting in value to $40,000,000 and the exports to $115,000,000. France comes next, with imports of $49,000.000 and exports of $78,000,000. Germany imports $25,000,000 and exports $51,000,000. There has been a large decline in the woolen trade of Great Britain since 1874 as shown by the exports as follows: Exports from 1870 to 1875, $787,000,000, from 1880 to 1884, $548,000,000, showing a decline of $239,000,000, or 30 per cent. between the periods. This decline is attributed in part to the high foreign tariffs which it is claimed shut out the manufacturers of Great Britain from foreign markets.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A SOLVED MYSTERY.

Benhayon's Death a Most Foul Murder.

Two Men Under Arrest and Charged With the Deed.

One of Them Proved to Have Been Intimate With Dr. Bowers.

A Terrible Chain of Evidence Indicating That the Death of Benhayon Was the Last Effort of Bowers to Escape the Gallows.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The inquest in the Benhayon case was resumed this afternoon. A. Lowenstein, a dry goods salesman, was placed on the stand and stated that he had been intimate with Benhayon for eight years and last saw him alive on Friday night. He further testified that last Wednesday Benhayon met him and told him that a friend of his had given him $5 to pay for a room at No. 23 Geary street and that on the following day Benhayon told him that he had engaged the room.

As the witness left the stand Mrs. Higson, the landlady of the house, identified him as the second man who had called at the house to see about renting a room, and who had paid her $5.

Lowenstein was recalled and positively denied having rented the room, but afterward admitted that he had called at the house last week to see two ladies who lived there. He was unable to give the names of the ladies or the name of a friend who he said was with him at the time.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

Mrs. Higson insisted that her indentification was correct, and at the conclusion of the session this afternoon both Lowenstein and Dimmig, who, Mrs. Higson stated, was the first man who called about a room, were taken into custody.

At the evening session Isaac K. Levy and Charles S. Harris of the fancy dry-goods store on Kearney street where A. Lowenstein is employed, testified as to the latter's habits.

Mrs. Sophia Reitzke, who has charge of the lodging-house at 510 Geary street, where Benhayon lived, testified at length. No important information was elicited.

Dr. Schwarzshild, the dentist with whom Benhayon was in a measure associated, was being closely examined, especially as to Benhayon's actions on last Saturday, when Captain of Police Lees stepped into the room and said that he had to communicate. He then took the stand and said in substance:

He had just completed a line of investigation, which is sufficient, in his mind, to hold C. Dimmig, who has so far figured in the case as a mysterious book-agent, for the murder of Benhayon. The courtroom at this became almost impressively silent. Capt. Lees, continuing, said that it had been ascertained that for several weeks past Dimmig has made frequent calls at the County Jail and held

CONVERSATIONS WITH BOWERS.

Dimmig's wife, who was once in the family of Bowers, was also a frequent caller. This evening he (Capt. Lees) received a visit from W. W. Lacy, who owns the drug store at the corner of Arrelt and Taylor streets. Lacy stated that from what he had read in the papers he had come to the conclusion that it was he who had indirectly furnished the cyanide of potassium that caused Benhayon's death, and that the person who obtained the poison was Dimmig. The circumstances were as follows:

DIMMIG PROCURED THE POISON.

About ten days since Dimmig called at the drug store and represented himself as a dealer in art material, but who also is or was connected with another drug store in the city. Dimmig called several times thereafter, and at one time stated that he would like a small amount of cyanide of potassium, as with this he wished to remove certain spots of nitrate of silver on his body. Lacy supposing that Dimmig was a druggist freely let him have the potassium. The poison was not sold, it was given to Dimmig. After this information was received Capt. Lees took Dimmig up to see Lacy and the latter at once identified him as the man to whom he had given poison. Dimmig afterward confessed that he had obtained the poison of Lacy.

DIMMIG'S STATEMENT.

John A. Dimmig, who stated that he was formerly at the oil wells, Los Angeles, was among those placed on the stand. He confessed that he had obtained cyanide of potassium of Lacy, but said it was to be used as stated, to remove spots of nitrate of silver from his body. He positively denied any connection with Benhayon's death.

W. W. Lacy was called, and gave the facts as before outlined. After some furthur examinations the inquest was continued until tomorrow.

BENHAYON'S FUNERAL.

The remains of Henry Benhayon were buried today in the Home of Peace cemetery with Jewish rites, Rev. Dr. Messing delivering a sermon.

Apaches in Mexico.

EL PASO, Oct. 26.—Advices from Sabinal, Mexico, confirm the news of a recent raid by the remnant of the Apaches who were commanded by Mangus. A party of pursuers commaned by one McGrew came upon the Indians unexpectedly, and exchanged about seventy shots and recovered the horses, but the Indians got away. McGrew halted to guard the ranch and await for twenty-five Mexican troops from Ascension. While he was awaiting a rainstorm obliterated the trail, and the Indians reached the fastness of the Sierra Madre Mountains.

Election at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26.—The city election is being held today. At noon it was decided that the vote polled up to that time was the largest ever known in the history of Baltimore. The interest taken in this election is remarkable, as the leading merchants of the city are congregated at the polls.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26.—Laterobe, Democratic candidate for Mayor, carried the city by a majority of 4025, making the Democratic gain nearly 2000 over the vote of two years ago.

Labor's Latest Grievance.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 26.—It is now an almost settled fact that the pressed-glass workers of the American Glass Workers' Association will go on a strike November 1st.

The manufacturers insist that the gathering boys must pay for the broken ware, but the workers will not agree to this. If the matter is not fixed 1600 men will be thrown out of work directly, and indirectly about 3000 men will be without employment.

Gould Whispers to the Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Tribune will publish an interview tomorrow with Jay Gould, in which he says that he has engaged passage on the steamer Umbria for Saturday. He will probably pass the winter in the Mediterranean and visit Egypt. He thinks stocks will probably advance when he goes away, because between the conflicting opinions as to his intentions the natural strength of the market is overlooked.

Yellow Fever at Tampa.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Surgeon General Hamilton received today a telegram from Dr. Porter at Tampa, Fla., stating there have been 225 to 250 cases of yellow fever and thirty-four deaths up to date.

Charges of Rate-Cutting.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The St. Paul Company has filed an affidavit with the chairman of the Western State Passenger Association, charging the Chicago and Northwestern and Burlington and Rock Island roads with specific instances of cutting passenger rates from San Francisco to Chicago. The cuts vary from $5 to $9, and the St. Paul Company demands that an investigation be had and fines imposed according to agreement.

The sentence of Fred Henry was continued to October 28th.

Thomas McCarthy, a native of England, was admitted to citizenship.

E. P. Carlson was sentenced to one year in San Quentin for burglary.

Frank Berry was fined $5 for petit larceny.

The charge of grand larceny against M. Lopez was dismissed.

The case of Joe Smith for robbery was continued to October 28th.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers left for the north yesterday on the 1:30 p.m. train: W. Holgate, M. Carter, Mrs. D. H. Arnold, C. H. Clark, J. H. Bast, E. W. Thorne, Mrs. Dr. May, Mrs. Fay, J. W. Van Devort, J. H. Richardson, F. Mandelbaum, P. Newmark, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, J. W. Scott, W. P. McIntosh, Mrs. Duncan, J. A. Stanwood, C. H. Fuller, F. D. Torrence, Mrs. G. A. White, Mrs. Crocker, Mrs. Porter Ashe.

A Bad Boy.

George Abbott is a bright youth, if all that is said of him be true. He is but 16 years of age, but he has the evil elements and bad tendencies necessary to make a bad man, if he does not mend his ways. His mother, in despair of doing anything with him, had him arrested yesterday, and desires that the authorities send him to the Industrial School at San Francisco. Officer Collins, who arrested him, found it necessary to hold him with firm grasp, for he nearly gave him the slip twice, and has threatened dire vengeance against that guardian of the peace when he grows to be of the same portly proportions of Collins.

A Runaway.

Last night about 10 o'clock a double team, the property of R. W. Reader, ran away, taking in the whole length of Spring and Main streets to the plaza before they were captured. It is remarkable that no damage was done to the runaways, or to other property passed on the way, for, aside from a few injuries to the carriage, no damage was sustained. Soon after passing the Nadeau the horses of one of the hacks, No. 185, standing there took fright, and, running, turned into First street, but their driver hung on to the bridle of one of the horses and prevented them from getting farther than Fort street.

Adjt.-Gen. Orton.

Adjt.-Gen. Orton, who is visiting the city, is the newly appointed commander of the National Guard of the State, having lately received his appointment from Gov. Waterman. He will remain in the city a few days and then return to San Francisco, to assume the duties of his office by November 1st. He reports that the staff of the late Gov. Bartlett has, with one or two exceptions, resigned, the vacancies to be filled by Gov. Waterman.

A Charming Wedding.

Last evening at the residence of the bride's father, corner of Second street and Bunker Hill avenue, John Grant and Miss Emma Berke were made one. Many friends were present. The refreshment tables were exquisitely spread, flowers lent their beauty and fragrance and the entire occasion was delightful. The service was performed by the Rev. Eli Fay, D.D. Ph. D., according to the beautiful form of the Unitarian Church.

Not on the List.

Dry-goods men may find a hint in the following letter, received at this office from a Canada town:

"Dear Sir: I have been looking over your paper, The MIRROR, and do not see any advertisements of dry-goods men in it. I would like very much if you would be so kind as to send me the names of the leading dry-goods men of Los Angeles, and oblige. Yours truly, H. A. MADDOCK."

"The Palms" Church Dedication.

A lot of real-estate men are making a lively kick at the attempt of some would-be monopolists to have the license raised to $50 per month. They will raise a breeze in Council Monday.

Some of the colored citizens desire the public to "look a leedle oudt" for an African party of the name of Brown, who is canvassing the city for subscriptions for an alleged colored church. They say he has no congregation and no credentials.

The concert given yesterday afternoon at Sixth-street Park was largely attended and greatly appreciated. This was the first of a series of concerts to be given by Meine Bros.' Band every Tuesday and Friday afternoons in the future. D. W. Douglas conducted the concert.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] An inquest was held today on the body of the supposed dynamiter who died suddenly in South London. It was ascertained that the man had been known as Joseph Cohen. He had also been known by the name of Brown. He had lodged for the past four months in a house on the Lambeth Road. His landlady, whose name is King, testified that Cohen was an invalid and seldom went out. He received many visitors, all of whom, she thought, were Americans.

An American named Michael Hawkins testified to having known him, but no definite information was ascertained from him.

Commissioner Munroe of the detective department explained that Cohen was believed to be the agent of the Clan-na-Gael Society, the head of which, Gen. Millen, was in London during the jubilee celebration. His London agent is named Melville. The landlady said Cohen had frequently visited him. Commissioner Munroe showed by his questions that he believed that a plot existed to kill Mr. Balfour. A verdict was rendered that deceased died from natural causes.

Wrecks on the China Coast—Count Mitkiewicz's Bank.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The steamship Gaelic arrived this morning from Hong Kong and Yokohama, and brings advices to the effect that September 15th the Chinese transport Waylee was lost in the Pescadores Channel and 280 Chinese and five Europeans were drowned.

It is also reported that the steamer Ancon encountered a typhoon in the China Sea, during which the second officer and twenty-four Chinese were washed overboard and drowned.

MITKIEWICZ'S BANK.

The Gaelic also brought Chinese papers containing copies of the agreement for establishing the China-American Bank. The agreement, as published, shows that the name of Vanderbilt was employed in the negotiations by Mitkiewicz, and that the United States Government was mentioned as being cognizant of the proposed agreement. One of the articles declares that Vanderbilt will act as president in the United States, but the vice-president will be sent to China to attend to business there.

The Shanghai Courier, speaking of the concessions, mentions the Philadelphia syndicate as having obtained all rights under the agreement, and says that the bank would be established.

Important to Tax-Payers.

The beautiful Schumacher tract, lying on the south side of Pico street about 1000 feet this side of terminus of the electric road, has been recently sold to a syndicate who are now offering the same in lots at low prices, $300 and upwards, on easy terms. This tract, on account of its proximity to the center of the city, being only thirty minutes' ride from First street, on a car line already constructed and running, not promised in the dim future, its five-cent fares, its high elevation, its fine mountain views, its surety of increase in values, being in the course of the natural growth of the city, and above all, its being already a center, with a postoffice station located and a church soon to be built, offers more inducements to investors than any in the market today, a fact recognized by one of our shrewdest real-estate men, who on first sight secured a block. Free carriage or free tickets on the electric road will be furnished to any one desirous of purchasing.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION,
Together with diseases of the EYE, EAR AND HEART,
Successfully treated by
M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.,
M. C. P. S. O.,
No. 275 North Main Street.
A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and oct he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; bu another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some oreign subs tance, as, for instance, a hair, obtructed the throat: there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharnyx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

THE LISZT RECITAL.

Notable Accession to the City's Musical Artists.

If one is not one's self a pianist, or a musical enthusiast, a piano recital, especially one devoted to one composer, is apt to become wearisome unless marvelously well executed; and even then, hearty, prompt and spontaneous applause following each number is unusual. Such, however, was the thoroughly merited reward given to William Piutti at his first recital in this city. Mr. Piutti has but recently come into the city, and having been with "the Great Maestro" Liszt at Weimar as a pupil, naturally gave him the preference above others for his introduction here. Mr. Piutti's programme of six typical Liszt compositions was prefaced by a concise, scholarly and thorough preface, or little lecture, on the composer as a composer. The strange and fascinating personality of the man who was the observed of all observers, the adored of all adorers, was but briefly hinted at. Mr. Piutti, in speaking of Liszt's treatment of the drama of Faust, called him aptly a realization of the character of Gothe; the dreamer, the philosopher, the yearner after things unknown and unseen, yet drawn aside by crude ambitions, vanity and the lust of the eye, to follies many, yet with the power of greatness at the bottom. Versatile, sympathetic, quick to feel the influence of the great men of his time, he naturally devoted his gifts as a musician to the works of others, arranging and vivifying their compositions, and doing little purely original work. His best and most serious work was in religious music, but slightly known and appreciated at its true worth today.

Mr. Piutti's first number was the familiar "Faust Valse," but from the first note it seemed transformed, or perhaps transfused with the fire of a master, and the whole number went off with a verve, a precision and ease, that delighted every hearer. It was conclusively proved that the player possessed power, brilliancy to a marked degree, and ease, a true otium cum dignitate. The second number, the "Rhapsodie Espagnoie," brought these qualities again prominently forward, and added to them a delightful lightness, breathing the very spirit of Spain, with her dance in the sunny daylight and her quick dagger at night.

In the "Gondoliera," a soft, haunting melody, rising and falling on the lazy waves of an Italian bay, sung by red-capped, happy and dirty gondoliers, or stealthily under a forbidden lattice, Mr. Piutti completely carried his listeners off to dreamland, ending in a most exquisitely managed pianissimo that kept the audience in a perfect hush of delight for an appreciable time after the last note died away, and provoking an enthusiastic demand for an encore. Mr. Piutti then played, in succession, two original compositions of his teacher, "Waldesrauschen," full of the mingled sounds of the forest, leafy or bare, and the well-known "Polonaise in E." The final number was the "Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 6." This is not so familiar as No. 2, but, as played, seemed more beautiful, bringing to mind Browning's famous line:

"How sad and bad and mad it was!
But then how it was sweet!"

Although this newcomer was heard in the compositions of one person only and thus prevented from showing his full complement of power, it is not extravagant to say that he is rivaled by no player here outside the stage. As brilliant as Raphael Joseffy, without his soullessness, absolute master of his instrument and of his fingers, capable of depth and of lightness of tone, supported by a certain manly personality, made the performance of Tuesday evening an artistic delight, showing, without cavil, that to Mr. Piutti belongs the too often but carelessly bestowed title of artist. Those who attended the Liszt recital will look forward to those to follow, devoted to other musicians.

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The stock market today was more active and strong until the last hour, the result of the day's business being another fractional advance over the entire list. The feeling was generally bullish and with little resistance except from trading elements, and while foreigners were doing little, commission people were buyers throughout. Again everything is higher.

Government bonds were dull but firm.

SLOAN—Walter L., infant son of S. C. and L. M. Sloan, October 25th. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery.

YOUNG—On Wednesday evening, of consumption, H. Janette, wife of Rev. William S. Young. Funeral services at the Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church on Sabbath afternoon at 3 o'clock. The body will be taken to Parkesburg, Pa., for interment.

BASKERVILLE—In this city, October 26, 1887, Julia A., beloved wife of Charles A. Baskerville, aged 28 years 8 months 7 days. The funeral will take place upon the arrival of her parents from Eureka, Humboldt county, California, of which notice will be given hereafter.

We notice that the sales of the Raymond Improvement Company in their Division No. 1 have been so rapid that they have been obliged to subdivide more land to accommodate buyers. To this end they have placed on the market their Division No. 2, located in the southeasterly portion of their tract and in front of the Raymond Hotel. They offer some 5000 feet frontage on Garfield avenue at low prices. Everyone at all familiar with that section knows that this avenue, already the principal drive from Alhambra to Raymond Station, over two miles long and seventy feet wide, will within the near future be thickly settled its entire length. The street cars are already running from Alhambra northward, and rails enough to complete the road to Raymond will arrive in a few days and at once be laid. Call on W. G. Hughes, Secretary, Room 9, Los Angeles National Bank Building, corner First and Spring streets.

A MYSTERY.

WHY AND HOW DID THE BURBANK RESERVOIR BREAK?

A Big and Inexplicable Hole in a Massive Structure—Was It Blown Up?—A Reporter's Observations on the Spot.

A TIMES reporter paid a visit yesterday to the reservoir at Burbank, which broke away on Monday night last.

The reservoir is the property of the Providencia Land and Water Company, and lies about a mile east of the town of Burbank. Riding out Olive avenue, over graded streets and passing what will some day be a city, the reservoir is reached, situated directly at the base of a range of foothills, and so located as to catch the water shed of several ravines. On the night of the accident there were confined about 1,000,000 gallons of water in the reservoir, the capacity of the same being about 1,700,000 gallons.

The reporter found about twenty men busily engaged in repairing the break. A stone wall is being constructed within the front bank to extend from shoulder to shoulder. This wall is being cemented and will take the greater part of the pressure from the banks. The banks of the reservoir are thirty-six feet wide at the base. The whole inner side is cemented, and being perfectly dry yesterday, suggested the idea of its being a capital place for roller-skating. The banks are composed of earth and rock. A three-foot puddle is then laid on top, ten inches of stone grouted, with an inch and a half of concrete, furnishes a sufficient barrier for all the water that the structure will ever be called upon to contain. The banks have a slope of two to one.

The break as it appeared yesterday, was a clean cut through the west or front bank of the reservoir. No theory is advanced by the company as to the probable cause. About thirty feet of the embankment has been carried away, but with the force of men now engaged thereon it will be but a short time before everything will be in better order than before.

The source of supply aside from the watershed from the high hills directly back, comes from springs through mains to the reservoir. From this catch, twelve-inch pipes are laid, through which water runs to supply the people of Burbank and the valley lying directly in front. No inconvenience resulted from the break to the residents below, as with the system there in use, it was only necessary to attach the main pipe leading to the reservoir to the mains entering the same and the supply was as before. The people of the town were unaware of the breakage until after everything had been placed in running order again and none of those interviewed yesterday could give a reasonable cause for the accident.

The office, which stands directly at the mouth of the cut formed by the break, stands there today, thanks to the firm foundation on which it was originally built.

One of the pipes leading under and away from the reservoir was found bursted and bent upward, a section 16 feet long being unaccountably missing. The pipes are what is known as double-riveted wrought-iron No. 12, and are fully capable of sustaining great pressure.

With the cemented wall now being built across the inside front wall, and the break filled and finished, in keeping with the remaining banks, there is little danger of alike accident occurring from natural causes. Seven thousand feet south of this reservoir is now being constructed a larger one, with a capacity of many thousand gallons more than the one visited yesterday.

The burning question is, what made the reservoir—which is a fine and substantial piece of work throughout—burst of its own accord? One looking at its massive walls, would be inclined to say not. The fact that the big iron pipe above alluded to, was bent up, and not down, seems to indicate some exterior force, and the disappearance of sixteen feet of it is also puzzling. On one previous occasion it was found that some one dug under the cement bottom; but this was discovered in time to prevent any serious damage. The company is reticent about the matter. Some outsiders have advanced the theory that the bank was blown up. The appearances rather favor this idea, but no motive can be seen for such a crime. There is no water-war there, and the company, which is composed of some of our best citizens, has no enemies that anyone is aware of. It is, on the whole, a mysterious case.

THE COMPANYS' SIDE OF THE CASE.

The following statement in behalf of the Providencia Land and Water Company, is fully given here:

The injury to the reservoir at Burbank, of which mention was made in yesterday's issue, is but temporary, and will be repaired at once. In justice to the owners and citizens of this enterprising suburban town, it is to their credit to note that their water supply is not dependent on their reservoir, as they have otherwise acquired ample quantities, which were immediately utilized, so that no inconvenience has resulted. The reservoir being a reserve for any and all emergencies.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Proceedings Yesterday—Will Close Today.

The Los Angeles District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church went on yesterday at the Boyle Heights Church.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. T. S. Uren.

Presiding Elder J. W. Van Cleve was called to the chair. Rev. John A. Morrison was elected secretary. The reports of the pastors of the different charges were read and showed the church to be in a very flattering condition.

The district outlook was discussed by Rev. W. A. Knighten.

The bounds of the District of Los Angeles were then stated by Rev. R. W. C. Farnsworth.

Rev. R. S. Cantine, R. W. C. Farnsworth, W. A. Knighten and Elder J. W. Van Cleve were appointed a committee to organize the district into subdivisions for pastoral assistance in revival work.

Rev. E. W. Caswell preached a sermon on evangelistic work in cities.

Rev. R. S. Cantine reported G. M. Adams to have passed a satisfactory examination as local preacher and he was favorably voted on by the conference.

At 2 o'clock yesterday the conference reconvened and the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. R. S. Badger. Dr. H. Cox next occupied the attention of the conference by a discourse on the elements of success in Methodist preachers.

At 3:30 p.m., Rev. P. H. Bodkin reviewed church literature, its objects and how to secure greater circulation. He was followed by Rev. R. W. C. Farnsworth on the subject of Christian education, and its importance. The evening was devoted to a sermon by the Rev. T. C. Warner. Subject: "The Further Advancement of Christianity." The conference will close today.

Police Commissioners.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday the following business was transacted:

Application of Mr. Frost to erect a tent on the corner of Second and Spring streets, referred to City Attorney.

On application to remove houses of ill fame from Alameda street, recommended that the Council amend ordinance No. 224 so as to include all of that part of Alameda street between Aliso and the junction of Main and Alameda.

Application by J. Lazier to start a saloon on Boyle Heights at 380 East First street, granted.

Also same permission to Nicholas Touncilier at No. 211 North Alameda.

Motion made and carried that Police Commissioners meet on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

Travel Eastward.

Hereafter persons traveling eastward from the Pacific Coast can reap some of the advantages of the admirably-organized Raymond & Whitcomb tours. The first party will leave Los Angeles for Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia on Monday, November 21st, in a new and magnificent vestibuled train of Pullman palace cars. The first train of this description seen on the coast—a train that represents over $100,000 worth of luxurious cars. They are not only superb sleeping cars, but a dining car, and a car which contains, besides a capacious smoking-room, a reading-room, a barber's shop and a bath-room. The vestibules cover the platforms, and a child can go from one car to another, the same as through a hallway of a house, and without exposure to the elements or to danger of any kind. These excursions include all incidentals of travel, as well as the railway ticket, and Pullman berths, meals and other charges are provided for without extra expense.

Social St. Pauls.

A very pleasant social reunion took place last evening in the hall attached to St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of which Rev. Dr. Birdsall is pastor. The early part of the evening was spent in social intercourse and in the formation of acquaintances among the parishioners. Mr. McKiernan, the leader of the church choir, favored the assembly with a few choice vocal selections, which were well received and deservedly applauded.

Miss Mamie Short, a local elocutionist of some note, recited "On the Other Train" in her own artistic style, and for an encore gave an illustration of a younger sister entertaining her older sister's beau.

A collation was served in the school-room, and the object of the meeting—better acquaintance among members of the church—was fully accomplished.

Low Characters.

Sadie Phillips's bagnio on Aliso street was raided last night at 12:30. The result of the catch was one male and one female, who gave aliases. They departed on putting up the required amount of bail.

Fred Andrews, one of Los Angeles' most notorious pimps, was also arrested by Officers Moore and Alford and charged with vegrancy. Andrews, when searched, had money and jewelry on him valued at at least $400. His money not coming up to the amount demanded for his faithful appearance in court, he was allowed to go out and "dig up." Andrews is reported to have many thousands in bank, all earned by his woman, who keeps him in idleness, and who "rustles" that he may indulge in the habit of opium smoking.

A Quick "Cure!"

George Baggatt, who was in a measure instrumental in assisting Morris, the trusty, to escape from the County Jail, was pronounced insane about ten days ago, and by order of the Court sent to Stockton for treatment. He surprised his most intimate friends yesterday by appearing in their midst entirely cured. So it appears it was rather a case of "delicious trimmings" than insanity, or that the authorities at Stockton are most ingenious and prompt in curing patients entrusted to their care.

State Horticultural Society.

A circular signed by E. J. Wickson, secretary, says: "The next meeting will be held in the rooms of the State Board of Horticulture, No. 220 Sutter street, San Francisco, on Friday, October 28th, at 1 o'clock p.m. The subjects for discussion will be 'Table Grapes' and 'California Seedling Fruits.' An essay will be offered by the secretary on 'Historical Notes on California Seedling Fruits.' An election of officers for the ensuing year will be held."

Election of Trustees.

There was a public meeting held Tuesday night by the members of the A. M. E. Church to elect trustees for the ensuing year. The following were elected: C. W. H. Nelson, C. M. Baker, Robert Owens, Joseph Taylor, A.M. Taylor.

A Fool Charge.

"Beelzebub" Miller, who accused a friend named Martin Henderson of stealing his watch and chain, had to take back water yesterday. He found the watch and chain in his own vest pocket. Mr. Henderson was, of course, discharged.

ORIENTAL HIGHWAYS.

THE BEST ROADS IN THE WORLD IN BRITISH INDIA;

And the Finest, the Grand Trunk, is 1600 Miles Long—The Peculiar Material with Which it Is Metaled.

[Thomas Stevens.]

Leading the world in many things, this country is most emphatically behind all other civilized countries in the matter of roads. Every American who has traveled abroad, and particularly in Europe, comes back home filled with regrets that the splendid macadam highways of England and Continental Europe have no counterpart in this country. I am not one who thinks this state of affairs calls for unqualified reproach, for many natural causes combine against good roads in the United States. First and foremost, no doubt, comes the railroads, which in many parts of the country preceded wagon road improvement entirely. The tremendous extent of territory, the comparative sparseness of population, the absence of suitable material over large areas of rich agricultural States, and the lack of military necessity, may be mentioned among the reasons for inferior roads here.

It is not the purpose of this sketch, however, to dwell upon the hackneyed subject of roads and their inferior condition in America, but rather to take a peep at the roads of other countries and the methods employed in their improvement. The most critical judges of roads are undoubtedly the men who traverse them on bicycles. A horseman or a pedestrian can step over holes, wade through sand or mud, and pick his way through loose or protruding stones without undue annoyance. The wheelman, however, guiding his sensitive steel steed, is affected from first to last by the condition of the ground beneath him. It might seem a good deal like presumption on my part to assert that I am in a position to pronounce upon the comparative merit of the world's roadways better than any man living; but no reader who has ever ridden a bicycle will doubt the assertion. Having made a trail around the land portion of the earth's surface with a bicycle, I can now take an ordinary map of the world and trace out from beginning to end of that great circle where the road is good, where it is bad or indifferent, and where it is execrable.

The best roads in the world, many readers will be surprised to hear, are in British India. After riding the bicycle 1400 miles through the Punjab, Oude, and Bengal, I am fairly at a loss to find words to express sufficiently my admiration of the enterprise that has belted India with such magnificent highways as I found there. The finest road in India is known as the Grand Trunk road; it extends for 1600 miles, an unbroken highway of marvelous perfection, from Peshawur on the Afghan frontier to Calcutta. It is metaled for much of its length with a substance peculiar to the country, known as kunkah. Kunkah is obtained almost anywhere throughout the Punjab—underlying the surface soil. It is a sort of loose nodular deposit of calcareous concrete, which may be readily converted into lime by burning in a kiln. When rolled and wetted it cements together and forms a road-surface smooth and compact as an asphaltum pavement and of excellent wearing quality. A valuable and peculiar property of kunkah is that the beds are constantly replenished by natural processes born of some favorable condition of the soil. After exhausting a bed of kunkah the land is leveled and allowed to remain untouched. After a few years the same land again yields a supply of kunkah. In passing down the road one sees big gangs of natives repairing the surface with kunkah dug out of beds immediately by the roadside. At certain seasons of the year the road overseers of the districts collect big gangs of men and women and proceed to repair such portions of the road as need attention. The worn portions are picked out to the bottom of the metaling and refilled with new kunkah as neatly as though it were a section of concrete pavement in a city sidewalk. A portion of the men carry the kunkah on their heads in wooden trays from the near-by pit to the road; the women carry jars of water from roadside well, pool, or river. The kunkah is spread, the water thrown over it, and another gang of men tamp it down with iron tampers. In renewing whole sections of road, these tampers are sometimes ranged three and four deep, and stretch clear across the road, the order of procedure being one short step forward at every tamp. In this manner the gangs pass up and down the new-made stretch several times, leaving it at last solid enough to run a steam-engine over. In some districts bullocks and heavy iron rollers imported from England are used, and sometimes the rollers without the bullocks, big teams of men taking the place of the animals.

When the British first began making roads in India it was with the greatest difficulty that they could induce the men employed to accept pay. "No, Sahib," the gentle Indian ryot would say; "no, Sahib; we will never submit to being paid for the work." Upon investigation of this strange state of affairs, it was ascertained that the reception of wages would be a violation of the caste prejudices of the dusky road-makers. The class of people the Government had to depend on to make the roads were independent ryots, or small farmers, accustomed from time immemorial to subsist by tilling the soil for a share of the produce. To accept pay for road-making or anything outside their established profession would degrade them and lower their caste. The only way the Government could recompense them was to make presents from time to time. No end of tact had to be employed even in doing this, so much is a violation of caste dreaded by the Hindoos.

—TO—

OWNERS AND BUYERS OF REAL-ESTATE!

THE OFFICIAL CALL LIST

—OF THE—

LOS ANGELES

Real-Estate and Stock Exchange

—IS ISSUED DAILY—

For Free Circulation.

The CALL LIST contains descriptions of improved and unimproved real-estate and securities listed by authority, and offered for sale to bidders willing to pay a fair market price. These properties are bought or sold only on commission by responsible real-estate brokers, bound by the rules and regulations of the Exchange to protect their customers against misrepresentation, fraudulent or defective titles, extortion in prices, and the thousand and one tricks of unscrupulous and irresponsible dealers.

The principal function of the Exchange is to establish and maintain real-estate values in the mutual interest of both buyer and seller. This can only be accomplished by actually closing transactions in open session of the Exchange and making a public record of the bids, of the prices asked by holders, and of the sales, by which means stability is given to the real-estate market, and the fullest protection is extended to all parties concerned.

Those who have property for sale, listed on the Exchange, are guaranteed the full market value of their real-estate, of which they have no assurance without the facilities which a well-regulated Exchange always affords to investors.

Intending buyers are secured against extortion, by the daily publication of the Real-Estate Exchange quotations on all classes of property, without which information they are frequently induced to pay far more than the actual market value of the property purchased.

The rules and regulations and blank forms of the Los Angeles Real-Estate and Stock Exchange have been copyrighted, and all persons infringing such copyrights will be proceeded against according to law.

The lobby of the Board Room, at No. 15½ South Spring street, next to the Nadeau House, is free to the public. Two sessions of the Exchange are held daily, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. and 3 o'clock p.m.

The Official Call List is distributed free by the Exchange messengers, or can be had free on application to the Secretary, at the office of the Exchange, No. 15½ South Spring street, or to any member of the Exchange, to whom all intending investors or home-seekers are respectfully referred for full, accurate and reliable information as to values, terms and conditions of sale and all other details relating to the properties duly listed on the Exchange.

TRADE REVIEW.

LOW PRICES AND WEAKNESS THE LEADING FEATURES.

The Treasury Outpour Has Not Aided the Stock Market—Decline in Cereals—Speculation Threatens Much Harm to the Future.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, say: In spite of many favorable conditions noted last week, prices do not advance. The Treasury added $33,000,000 to the circulation in September, and has added about $4,000,000 since, and the Baltimore and Ohio bargain has been ratified, and the Reading reorganization ensued, yet prices of stocks fell Wednesday to an average of $58.77 per share, the lowest since April and May, 1886, and excepting a few weeks then, the lowest for two years.

Wheat has lost every advance since September 20th. Corn for a fortnight past and oats for a month past have occasionally risen, only to recede again. Cotton has declined ⅛c. during the month and pork $1 per barrel. Oil is higher, but transactions are insignificant. Coal is stronger because of a strike, but iron and steel are lower.

Elaborate statements of exchanges for the past year and a quarter only conceal the fact that of late exchanges have been falling behind those of last year, first at New York and then at other chief cities in New England manufacturing towns. In short, the theory that "more money" insures prosperity comes to grief again.

More than $107,000,000 have been added to the circulation within the past fourteen months, but speculation thus stimulated threatens much harm to a future already clouded with doubt.

While great activity and expansion are witnessed in some branches of business, others exhibit symptoms of reaction.

Steel rails are lower. Sales were made last week for $34, spring delivery. Some makers are urging a general stoppage of works. Pig iron, No. 1 foundry, continues scarce, because of the Lehigh coal strike, but lower quotations come for gray forge and also for bar iron.

Encouraging statements of exports in September show that of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions, oil and cattle, the value was 9 per cent. greater than in 1886. A large decrease appears in wheat, but a noteworthy increase in flour. Of cattle and pork the exports decreased one-half, and there is some loss in butter, cheese and oil, but a gain of $6,640,000 in the exports of cotton.

This month's exports from New York show a gain of 2½ per cent. against an increase of 10 per cent. in imports. Exchange has advanced this week because of large sales of stocks on foreign account, and the controlling question in the money market now is whether the passing of a dividend by the Baltimore and Ohio and other events will so discourage foreign holders of securities as to cause extensive selling. But $1,100,000 more gold arrived on Thursday.

Interior reports are uniformly more favorable, though tight money and slow collections are still reported from some points. The pressure in most cases is less severe, and collections rather better. In Texas, where the cotton yield is said to be 10 per cent. below last year's, failures are more numerous, and many traders are asking indulgence, but east of the Mississippi money is generally easier.

The partial failure of crops is as yet hardly recognized as a cause of disturbance in the Northwest. If the actual losses of farmers are as large as the October bureau report would indicate, however, some shrinkage in the volume of business must result.

The dry goods trade, though rather less active, has been fairly satisfactory in volume with prices well maintained, though print cloths are a shade lower.

Shrinkage in wool manufactures appears in reported sales of wool at Boston, which were 21,000,000 pounds for the three months ending October 1, against 58,000,000 pounds for the same month last year. But the supplies on hand at the beginning of the period may explain part of the decrease.

The boot and shoe business is active and healthy. The leather market at least improves. In some localities at the West where real estate speculation began early last fall, mortgages begin to ripen and prices are no longer maintained, while bankers decline loans on real estate securities. But building of railways and new towns and manufacturing centers still continues.

They Raided a Prayer Meeting.

[Philadelphia North American.]

"Brudder Augustus will please close de sarvice wid prayer." That is the remark that Lieut. Skilton and a squad of his men heard when they broke into a supposed negro gambling den on Locust street Monday night. As the bluecoats paused in astonishment at what they found, one of the worshipers (?) shouted:

"Who am dose men?"

"Dey's all right," responded the first speaker. "Dey'll leave in a minute."

And of course they did. There was nothing else to do, as the gamblers had evidently been forewarned of the raid and had improvised an excellent imitation of a prayer meeting.

As the Balm of Gilead.

[Portsmouth Blade.]

Denis Kearney of sand lot notoriety is coming East to lecture against the evils of the Chinese. The Celestials may not be altogether lovely, but compared to the coming of Denis, they are as if Gilead had rained six inches of solid balm down upon us.

Land and Water Company.

29,000 Acres 29,000

—OF—

THE BEST CITRUS LAND IN THE STATE!

Offered for sale in twenty-acre blocks, and can be bought in five, ten, fifteen or twenty-acre subdivisions.

Lytle Creek Water Piped on Each Lot.

Avenues 150 Feet in Width Traverse the Tract.

Water Furnished from a Covered Cement Ditch.

This land lies on the elevated plain directly west of San Bernardino city. The plain is a vast elevated table-land, with just enough of gentle undulation to break the monotony of the landscape.

Owing to the elevation, frost is practically unknown. Flowers in myriads bloom during the winter, the tenderest tomato sprigs are unscathed by frost, and the orange blossoms bloom in beauty throughout the winter. The view is one of the noblest and most picturesque in Nature. Each twenty-acre lot has a fine road at each end.

There are 29,000 acres in this tract, but 10,000 acres only are as yet surveyed. The town, RIALTO, is located near the center of this 10,000-acre tract and on the California Central.

The California Central and the Southern Pacific both traverse this great tract, and in all probability the Southern Pacific's parallel route will soon add a third railroad to this princely citrus tract. The western line of the tract is about two miles distant from the San Bernardino Courthouse.

The plain grows as fine oranges as the world has ever seen and the finest quality of citrus fruit generally, as buyers can see for themselves. There is no better raisin grape land in California. In fact all sub-tropical productions flourish to perfection.

For a Sanitarium

No spot in the country offers so many natural advantages as that sightly bench of land in the Duarte commonly known as the

"GEARY RANCH."

There is here found a rare combination of those sanative conditions indispensable to the successful treatment of throat and lung affections. The location is absolutely above the extreme fog limits. The chill of night and early morning hours is tempered by radiated warmth from the mountains that tower behind in close proximity. The heat of day is moderated by the natural conditions insured by an elevated and exposed situation. The magnificent mountains in the rear afford an effectual barrier against north winds, and from their deep ravines an abundant supply of pure spring water is obtained. A background of rugged mountains, a broad expanse of fertile valley below, with a strip of ocean shimmering beyond, combine to form scenery at once grand and beautiful in its diversified loveliness. The site is within a half hour's drive from the railroad station and over an excellent road of easy grade, by groves and vineyards and through a pretty live oak canyon in which not a trace of sand-wash is visible.

This valuable property, comprising in all 140 acres, will be sold as a whole, or a site for a sanitarium or mountain hotel. Can be secured on very advantageous terms, providing the parties will erect thereon buildings of a certain value.

LA PRESA!

The Beautiful Swiss Village on Lake Como

BEING REPRODUCED IN SAN DIEGO.

The most novel thing yet undertaken in the development of this southern country is now being done at LA PRESA, nine miles from San Diego. The plan is to reproduce in that delightful spot the counterpart of the celebrated Swiss village on Lake Como, in Northern Italy. To this end a railroad is being built to the place, and a fine modern hotel is to be erected at once. The situation is most delightful; far enough removed from the sea to escape rough winds, yet near enough to be always cool. With pure water, fine scenery, and the best of soil, LA PRESA is just the place to invest for a quick turn with big profits. LA PRESA is sure to grow rapidly, as it has all the elements to attract a select class of settlers.

Salt River Valley,

PHŒNIX, ARIZ.

A grand and magnificent country.
The soil is unequaled. Nowhere on the face of the earth can a greater quantity or variety of grain and fruit be produced.

THE CLIMATE IS MOST EXCELENT.

Southern California does not afford as favorable climatic conditions for consumptives and other invalids.
CAPITALISTS can find first-class opportunities for investment. Men with SMALL MEANS and HOME-SEEKERS can find good property within their reach.
Ask Hon. De Barth Shorb, J. Q. Story, Maj. Toberman and other California capitalists who have visited and made investments in this WONDERFUL VALLEY, what they think of it.
